DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 4-5, 7-10, 12-13 and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gupta (US 6,516,315).

4. As per claims 1 and 7-8, Gupta teaches the invention as claimed including a computer-implemented method for managing access to computer-provided services for a plurality of requesters [col. 2, lines 27-60], comprising:

defining combinations of access characteristics and associating each of the combinations with a security level, associating each of the services with one of the security levels [col. 4, lines 45-52; col. 6, line 51 – col. 7, line 44]; processing a login request from a requester, whereby a session is initiated [col. 3, lines 21-28; col. 9, lines 61-67];

determining access characteristics of the session, receiving a request for one of the services from the requester and granting access to the one of the services if the access characteristics of the session are associated with a security level that satisfies the security level associated with the one of the services [col. 3, lines 28-34; col. 10, lines 1-36].

5. As per claim 2, Gupta teaches the step of prompting the requester for authentication data if the access characteristics of the session are associated with a security level that does not satisfy the security level requirement associated with the one of the services [col. 11, lines 5-15].

6. As per claim 4, Gupta teaches the access characteristics include ownership rights of a device with which the session is maintained [col. 7, line 47 – col. 8, line 32].

7. As per claim 5, Gupta teaches the access characteristics include characteristics of a network over which the session is maintained [col. 12, lines 17-21].

8. As per claim 9, Gupta teaches the invention as claimed including a plurality of communications devices coupled to one or more computer-provided services via a gateway arrangement [92, Fig. 6], a method for managing access to the services for a plurality of users at the communications devices [col. 2, lines 27-60], comprising:

defining combinations of access characteristics and associating each of the combinations with a security level at the gateway arrangement, associating each of the services with one of the security levels at the gateway arrangement [col. 4, lines 45-52; col.6, line 51 – col. 7, line 44];

processing a login request from a user at the gateway arrangement, whereby a session is initiated between a communications device and a service [col. 3, lines 21-28; col. 9, lines 61-67]; and determining access characteristics of the session at the gateway arrangement, receiving at the gateway arrangement a request for one of the services from the user of the communications device and granting access to the one of the services if the access characteristics of the session are associated with a security level that satisfies the security level associated with the one of the services [col. 3, lines 28-34; col. 10, lines 1-36].

9. As per claims 10, 12-13 and 15-16, since they are method claims of claims 2, 4-5 and 7-8, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 2, 4-5 and 7-8 above.

10. As per claims 17 and 18, since they are apparatus claims of 1 and 9, they are rejected for the same basis as claims 1 and 9 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2154

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. Claims 3, 6, 11, 14 and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gupta (US 6,516,315) as applied to claims 1-2, 4-5, 7-10, 12-13 and 15-18 above.

13. As per claims 3, 11 and 19, Gupta teaches the invention substantially as claimed in claim 1. Gupta does not specifically teach the access characteristics include a type of device with which the session is maintained. However, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add the information of the type of device to access characteristic in Gupta's system because doing so would improve the quality of the service by quickly realizing the user's device type and providing relevant service to the user. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify Gupta's system with type of device information to improve the functionality of the system.

14. As per claim 6, 14 and 20, Gupta teaches the invention substantially as claimed in claim 1. Gupta does not specifically teach the step of authenticating the requester with a selected authentication method, wherein the access characteristics include characteristics of the authentication method. However, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to including authentication method selection in Gupta's system because doing so would improve the dynamic ability of the system by allowing users select a method based on their preference and need. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify Gupta's system with authentication method selection to bring convenience of the system.

Conclusion

15. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Kuroda (US 5,935,248) discloses a security level apparatus;

Brown et al. (US 5,941,947) discloses an access control system;

Clark et al. (US 6,058,378) discloses a electronic service system;

Britton et al. (US 6,405,202) discloses a user access control system; and Mehring et al. (US 6,609,115) discloses an on-line access control system.
